LAMELLO TOP 20 S4 BISCUIT JOINER INCLUDES NEW POWERFUL 800-WATT MOTOR FOR FAST, ACCURATE JOINERY

KINGSTON, MA —Colonial Saw Company, America's distributor of Lamello precision Swiss power tools and wood joining systems, is proud to announce that the Lamello Top 20 S4 Biscuit Joiner is now available. This biscuit joiner comes with a NEW powerful 800-watt motor for even faster precision groove cutting in all materials. Additional features include height adjustable cutter to adjust groove position to exact center of the work-piece and for individual positioning of the groove, the ability to do 0 to 135 degree miters, a precision groove cutter with scoring teeth, optimized fan, soft start, and dust bag.

Lamello U.S.A. is a division of Colonial Saw Company, Inc., the exclusive importer of Swiss-made Lamello specialty tools, biscuits, and biscuit joiners for over 40 years. Lamello products are available from authorized dealers throughout the USA. Lamello invented the biscuit joining system in the early 1950s, and today the company is a world-famous industrial manufacturer of wood joining technology and tools. For over half a century, Colonial Saw Company has delivered uncompromising performance and value, along with one of the most comprehensive and responsive after-sale customer support programs in the American woodworking machinery industry.
